

The U.S. Patent System: Just the

Proponents of significant restrictions on the calculation of patent infringement damages argue that Congress needs to intervene. In fact,

The aggregate of the top 25 patent suit settlements dropped by 45% between 2005 and 2006.

Wholesale patent system changes aren't needed. Good policy requires measured change based on the facts. Getting patent reform wrong will impair innovation, stifle entrepreneurship and curtail future job growth.

Click here to view more facts about the U.S. patent system.

For more information about the Innovation Alliance and the patent reform debate, please visit www.InnovationAlliance.net